

International business competition

The High School Business Challenge (HSBC) is a business competition aimed at high school students who are interested in issues in the field of economics and business. In addition to the competition, the project's mission is to promote entrepreneurship and the development of young people's competencies. In addition to prizes, participants can take part in training and workshops prepared by our partners. So far, we have successfully implemented six editions of the competition at national level and two international editions in the Visegrad Group countries.

Teamwork

Participants enter in teams of 3-5 people, so one of the most important competencies developed during the competition is the ability to work in a team.

Case study

Tasks based on the case study formula are not only more interesting than traditional tests and closed questions, but also teach a multi-faceted view of a given problem through a practical approach.

Business teamwork

The diversity of issues arising in the tasks (e.g. finance, basic economics, management) best shows participants the variety of challenges they will face in their future careers.
